General Information

Timber finishes

Our timber frames and arms are made from solid hardwoods. There will be variations in grain and figure that give these materials their unique character – these features are not faults but proof of the natural origin of the timber.

Upholstery specifications and care

CMHR foam is used as standard on all products

Fabric should be vacuumed regularly with appropriate care. This helps remove contaminants and gritty particles that have an abrasive effect which reduces the life of the fabric.

Leather should be cleaned with a soft damp cloth. For more thorough cleaning use a mild solution of pure soap flakes (not detergent or other chemicals), being careful not to soak the leather. After cleaning, polish with a soft dry cloth. Do not apply polishes or waxes. Avoid placing leather upholstery in direct sunlight or close to heat sources such as radiators.

Colour and finish of fabrics and leathers

Fabric and leather colours may vary slightly from batch to batch so exact matching cannot be guaranteed between orders placed at different times. Leather may exhibit surface characteristics such as scars, growth lines and variations in texture. These are not faults but simply aspects of the character of this natural material.

Building Access

Please note that some items, in particular HB3 sofas, are large single-piece items. It is the purchaser's responsibility to ensure that building access is adequate before ordering. In the event of direct delivery by Sven Christiansen abortive delivery charges may become payable if delivery cannot be effected due to inadequate access.

Guarantee

We guarantee our seating for five years against any defects resulting from faulty materials or workmanship, fair wear and tear excluded, and subject to appropriate use, care and maintenance.

Specifications, pricing and terms

We reserve the right to amend or update specifications without prior notice. All prices are exclusive of VAT. All orders are accepted subject to our Terms & Conditions of Sale (see page 35).

Working Chairs

– mechanism options

M1 1:1 back/seat tilt mechanism with independent seat and back angle adjustments

The seat angle and backrest angle can both be locked or floating. With the seat floating and backrest locked the combined seat/back tilts together. Adjustable tilt tension. A 'lively' mechanism with a lot of potential for personalisation to individual preferences – but needs user understanding to deliver maximum benefit.

Available on G1 and G2.

M2 Synchro mechanism with 2:1 back/seat movement

Conventional synchro mechanism with tilt tension adjustable by a knob under the front of the seat.

Available on G1 and G2.

M3 Fixed seat with manual back rake adjustment

Mandatory on cashier height chairs for safety reasons, but may also be specified on desk-height chairs.

Available on G1.

MG Premium Synchro mechanism with 2:1 back/seat movement and integral seat depth adjustment

Synchro mechanism with integral seat depth adjustment*. Tilt tension adjustable by a convenient pull-out knob at the side of the seat. Available on G2, G2E and G3. Standard on HBB and Ele. (*chairs fitted with the MG mechanism always have an adjustable depth seat, but on models where the seat pan also incorporates a sliding seat the seat depth adjustment is deleted from the mechanism for ergonomic and safety reasons, to avoid having two seat depth adjustments).

M6 Premium Synchro mechanism with 2:1 back/seat movement with integral forwards tilt and variable initial back angle

Synchro mechanism offering an exceptional degree of recline. Tilt tension adjustable by a convenient winding handle at the side of the seat. Independent adjustment of backrest angle: this enables the user to set the initial angle between seat and backrest, which then opens out further as the seat and back recline. Forwards tilt function: pull out a small knob at one side of the seat and the range of motion of the seat increases to allow a forward seat tilt. Available on G2, G2E and G3.

Maximum recline with M2 synchro mechanism

Maximum recline with M6 premium synchro mechanism
